THE VOYAGE OF THE S.S. 'BINGO MARU.'

The Ceylon Observer of the 6th inst. says :- There may have been larger gatherings on various vessels crossing from England to Colombo, but certainly there was none where heartier good fellowship prevailed than on board the Japan mail steamer Bingo Maru, which arrived yesterday morning from London. The Binga Mara, is one of the twenty 6,000 tonsteamers on the European Line, and left the Royal Albert Docks on Good Friday, April 10, with her full complement of passengers. Six days afterwards the Commandor Fredk Davies, R.N.R., took the thus giving the passengers an opportunity of seeing this historical place. At the time of passing, the Colony was decorated with banners and all description of bunting. The troops marching were plainly visible on board, the whole being in honour of President Loubst's visit. After leaving Algiers all kinds of ship's sports were indulged in. In the evenings cinemategrahs views were shown, likewise magic lantern; gramophone, dancing, &c. On Saturday, May 2, a charity concert took place in which the whole of the ship's crew were assisted by some of the passengers. Among these were the world famouse Nishinmo-Mateu troups of Japanese jugglers and conjurers. The latter gave-an excellent exhibition and are now on their way to Japan after 10 years touring Europe. A street scene of Antwerp by the ship's Company was much appreciated. The programmes for the concert were auctioned in the morning and realised the respectable total of £30. In addition to this subscription a further sum of £12 was handed tothe Captain to institute an entertainment half fund. It may be said that Captain F. Davies has had 33 years at sea and wears many medals, among which are two for life-saving and a very handsome recognition from the Seamen Aid Society of Japan, the charity that the concert was proposed for.

CAPTAIN DAVIES is much beloved by all with whom he comes in contact. He is at all times willing 992 to oblige passengers and ever ready to answer the 1,000 and 1 questions and goes out of his way to explain anything in connection with the ship's working. In order to worthily entertain the ship's company on the might of the charity concert, the popular Commander had the entire lower deck decorated with palms and flags of all nations and countless small bannerettes, the whole being a truly cosmopolitan gathering and fit representation to the world-wide sympathy and humanity of the much admired skipper. Capt. Davies, spart from his - profession as a navigator, has learned how to play the host with a grace which a prince might envy. One and all the passengers agree that never could a happier time be spent on board a ship than that experienced on the Ringo Maru and the N.3.K. are to be congratulated on having such an admirable commander. THE REAL VALUE OF

'The Encyclopædia Britannica. THE TENTH EDITION,

2223 Offered Temporarily in Chine at the London Prices.

The ENCYCLOPÆDIA BRITANNICA, of which the Ninth Edition was completed thirteen years ago, at once assumed, and has firmly retained, a position of paramount authority. Upon its own plane and in its own field it has absolutely no comfetitor. Its plane and its field are indeed of its own creation, for no other library of reference has been ever planned upon so comprehensive a scale, or constructed with so uncompromising a determination to make the very best possible book without counting the cost. The sum of £300,000 was spent on it.

The men who made the Encyclopiedia were seknowledged masters of their subjects; and not only that, they were accomplished literary men as well. In supplying information they produced literature. In collating facts, they gave to an ordinarily dull and uninteresting task a charming quality of style, a literary finish, and a sound gradition possible only in the case of a writer who is not less a scholar than a specialist. It therefore happens that while the Encyclomedia Britannica is a monument of learning, it is always eminently readable. Many of its treatises are classics of their sort, and are recognised as such in the world of letters. While they are encyclopædia in scope, they have little of the typical encyclopædia atmosphere. A more brilliant series of papers were never published—never, certainly, within the covers of an encyclopædia than these exquisite monographs, written for us by the most scholarly pens of Great Britain, with a firm, sure note of authority. These have passed into literature, in not a few instances they have been published in book form, and were they leat to us English literature would be measurably improverished.

Herein, therefore, lies the real, the parament value of the Encyclopædia Britannica-that it represents the highest literary achievement mind and money can produce. It was built without regard to expense. The foremost writers in their several departments were employed to contribute to it, and in this connection it is worthy of note that perhaps the greatest distinction a literary man can win is tohave contributed to the Encyclopædia. Written and printed in accordance with a plan of prodigal expenditure such as no other work ever enjoyed, the Encyclopædia Britannica embodies the sum of human knowledge in a masterly compilation whose chief characteristic is its imporial breadth of view and cosmopolitan range, ignoring a thousand little facts that are easily obtainable in the smaller works, in order to ensure a generous and litting exploitation of the great truths of history and human experience. It was a large and a noble undertaking, whose usefulness will endure for ever. Not to appreciate it is to declare oneself insensible of the highest and hest in

THE TENTH EDITION.

The work now offered in China by 'The Times' (London) is the Tenth and latest edition. This consists of the original twenty-four volumes of the last edition and the supplementary volumes which 'The Times' has prepared in order to bring the work up-to-date. The Encyclopædia is therefore the one work which contains not only the history of the past, but the newest facts, the most recent discoveries of science, the latest statistics, and which deals authoritatively with every phase of contemporary life. political, industrial, sociological, literary, artistic. The sum of £200,000 was spent on the original twenty-four volumes, and in perfecting the new volumes do outlay has been more than £100,000

THE BOOK.

The Encyclopædia is contained in thirty-three volumes, and there have been added a thirty-fourth volume, which deals exclusively with maps, and a thirty-fifth volume which is a gigantic Index to the whole work. The index has been built upon an entirely new plan, and contains not less than 600,000 entries,

THE BINDINGS.

The Encyclopiedia is offered in four styles of binding : cloth, half leather, three quarter, and full leather. Each volume weighs about 7 pounds. So bulky a work necessarily requires, for every day use during many years, a good stout binding, and THE TIMES recommends subscribers to purchase either of the leather bindings in preference to the cloth. The three-quarter leather is "The Trans' special binding, being durable as well as beautiful.

MONTHLY PAYMENTS.

Subscribers may pay for the work in full, or they may pay $20 a month towards THE GREAT SPECIFIC FOR the cost. The number of monthly payments variou according to the style of binding preferred, being 17 payments for cloth, 21 for half leather, 23 for three-quarter leather, and 24 payments of $25 for full leather. A preliminary payment of $20 is required to register a subscriber's name, and the entire set of 35 volumes is despatched. as soon as possible after receipt of the first payment. .

The Encyclopædia Britannica 10th Edition, 35 Large Quartos.

26,000 Articles, 2,000 Contributors, 31,000 Pages. 614 Plates and Maps, 11,400 Illustrations, 40,000,000 Words of Cext.

CASH PRICES THE SAME IN CHINA AS IN LONDON.

In order to effect a quick distribution of the 16th Edition. 'The Times' offers the vork in China at London prices, sea-freight and landing charges paid as far as Shanghai r Hongkong. Cheques should be made payable as follows:--

' To Hongkong and Shanghai Bank, to credit of H. E. Hooper,' for either of the ollowing amounts :-For the Half Morocco Binding...... $415 For the Three Quarter Morocco Binding ...... $450 (This Binding is recommended both for its durability and beauty).

Note: The foregoing prices can apply only to the first impression of the New Volumes which 'The Times' has prepared in order to bring the original 24 volumes of the Encyclopædia Britannica up to date. An extraordinary demand for the Supplement has made it possible to offer the 35 volumes for considerably less than the prices at which they can be sold hereafter. More than 30,000 persons at home who: already possessed the early volumes have subscribed for the supplement, almost all of them in advance of its publication, so that 'The Times' was enabled to make one consecutive 'run' on the presses, and thereby to effect a large reduction in manufacture. ing cost. Subscribers in China are for the moment, on exactly the same feeting as subscribers in England, but orders should be registered promptly, as it will not be possible to guarantee indefinitely the acceptance of orders in China at the Lendon prices, with the additional concession of free carriage from London to Shanghai and

MONTHLY PAYMENTS.

The convenient and well approved system of acquiring the Encyclopadia Britansica by monthly payments has been tried by 'The Times,' with great success, in all parts of 628 the world, and it will now be extended to China. By this plan the subscriber pays $20 down, and $20 each month, on a given day, but he receives the entire set of 35 volumes upon receipt of the preliminary payment of $20. The number of monthly

No. 14, D'AGUILAR STREET. payments will vary according to the binding desired, as follows :--$20 down and 17 payments of $20, for cloth. $20, for Half Morocco. $20, for Three-quarter Morocco.

(This is the special Times binding, and can be recommended). the liest and the most beantiful and is as fine a binding as it is possible to make.

By arrangement with 'The Times,' Messrs Kelly & Walsh, Ld., have been appointed agents for the Encyclopædia, and are authorised to accept subscriptions of Shanghai and Hengkong. Specimen volumes in the different hindings may be examined. at Kelly & Walsh, Ld., and payments will be made to them each month, or for cash in

PROSPECTUS POST-FREE

For fuller information regarding the Encyclopiedia Britannica, intending subscribers should not fail to apply for the illustrated prospectus of specimen papers.
